My Dearest Darling Wally:

You asked me to write in your book because you are always writing in mine so Darling for you sweetheart I shall never forget Kalzis Grove as the first place we ever went together alone. Betty Jo was with me & she was real angry because your boy friend were making so much noise. But I didn't mind. Then there were those three times we went to get drunk on apple cider. I shall never forget the socials when I used to meet you after work. Then there was one time you did come & pick me up at the bus stop. That was the very many times you met me for my Saturday work & even walked you to the bus stop. That one day that you came home & I answered lunches. Then don't forget the day you came home. I got we had two Thanksgiving dinners. And then on Christmas Eve when you went to my church & I went to your church. Then we always had to do things my letters & well I guess some of your friends. Then that very nice the other day you left for the store through. Then I did wank my car to the Black hawk & I did wank we had two taken just for me to work & for a walk in the Park there & I fell in the very good time the evening your uncle took a picture taken of us. We had a very nice dinner on the way home. I shall never forget the time we went for a bus ride on the Rock River. Then you picked me up at

Getting The Inside Story of The Latest Wonder

It's fun to watch a television program, but it was more fun to visit an institute where one can see exactly what takes place to bring these video-audio programs to the public. Such an experience the Silver Streak staff had in preparing the annual this year, when Mr. John M. Sanabria, chief engineer of the American Television Institute of Technology, made arrangements for the staff to visit the school and see television actually in operation. The three hours spent there gave the staff further inspiration and information to carry out the theme of the book: and the privilege of taking pictures along the way for use in the annual, lets the rest of the school in on the visit too.

Standing: R. Glazowski, W. Fisher. Seated: M. Cortez, J. Glasing, C. Janis, C. Bohn, watching a television program in main office of the institute.

TELECAST NUMBER FOUR — GRADUATION

KANSAS CITY TIMES, June 4, 1947.
Dr. Hunt: "I regard it as a challenge to my ability and a great opportunity."

CHICAGO TIMES, June 6, 1947.
"Kansas City Rotary Club bestows four wartime "Es" on Dr. Hunt: E for Eloquence, Enthusiasm, Efficiency and Excellence in school administration."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR, Boston, Mass., by Ralph Cessna, June 9, 1947.
"Dr. Hunt appears more like a successful business man than a professor."

CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE, Sept. 21, 1947.
"Hunt's success as an administrator is due as much to his love of work as to his uncommon intelligence."

CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Sept. 21, 1947.
"Undaunted by the size of the Chicago school system, Hunt wants to get to know the teachers, and so far as possible the students as well."

Dr. Hunt: "I've got such happiness from educational work that I've never been tempted by business."

HERALD AMERICAN, June 6, 1947.
Dr. Hunt: "How can you know what's going on in your schools, if you don't visit them and find out for yourself."

DAILY NEWS, August 4, 1947.
"In a democratic school system parents are given opportunities to participate in the planning," said Dr. Hunt.

SWING MAGAZINE, August 1947.
"He knows when to speak softly, when sharply; and exactly how to roll a short fused powder keg into the middle of public complacency," said Mori Greiner, Managing Editor of Swing. "Now at 45, Hunt heads the second largest school system in the United States, at Chicago."

SUN, October 10, 1947.
"We can't have a good city if we don't have a good school system," said Mayor Kennelly.

THE GARFIELDIAN, Sept. 11, 1947.
Dr. Hunt: "I don't intend to be a desk superintendent."

Dr. Herold C. Hunt's farewell speech to the school children of Kansas City, Missouri, struck a sad note in their hearts, but a glad one in the hearts of the boys and girls of Chicago's public schools. Steinmetz students extend to you, Dr. Hunt, a hearty and sincere welcome.

SCHOOL

Each decade brings forth new and more spectacular inventions. The Miracle of Television may be on its way to become a part of the school program. Imagine then, fellow students, the very world itself will be brought into the class room.

Dr. Matthew L. Fitzgerald, Principal Mr. Grover C. Ramsey, Ass't Principal

Dr. Herold C. Hunt, our General Superintendent of Schools and recently elected President of the American Association of School Administrators, has long been a leader in that group of educators who realize that the role of education in a democracy must be one of continued expansion.

More and better physical facilities, better teachers, and a longer school term are problems that are getting particular attention. However, we do not have to wait for perfection in each small detail before moving ahead.

The education you have received at Steinmetz has not been of the mere memoriter type. You have learned how to find and evaluate material and to organize the results of your research. You are, in a word, in a position to expand your areas of knowledge and to locate new fields of interest.

Through innumerable experiences in classrooms, clubs, and assemblies you have laid the foundation for civic and moral responsibilties and have acquired the understandings, the habits, and the attitudes necessary for success in life.

I hope you will make the most of the education that is yours, not only for your own betterment but for that of humanity.

Languages Promote the Brotherhood of Man

Singing carols in all languages is a positive way to create a feeling of kindness and trust toward the peoples of other countries. Folk say the world is topsy-turvy, but it will continue to be so until men change their attitude toward each other. Prejudices, fears, hate and greed must go before we can honestly clasp hands in true friendship with all nations and proclaim we are practicing the Brotherhood of Man.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Training in the art of cultivating poise and ease when before an audience is one of the many channels of instruction in the English classes.

Fostering Good Will in English Classes

Upper left picture: Appropriate pictures are displayed during the theme to create atmosphere and to stimulate thinking.

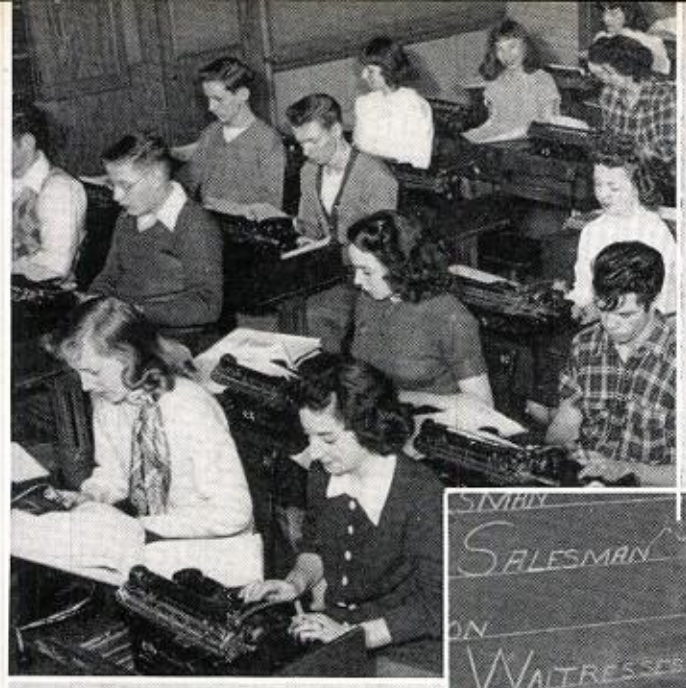
Upper right picture: Pupils bring in many and fitting quotations which help to provoke ideas for writing the good will theme.

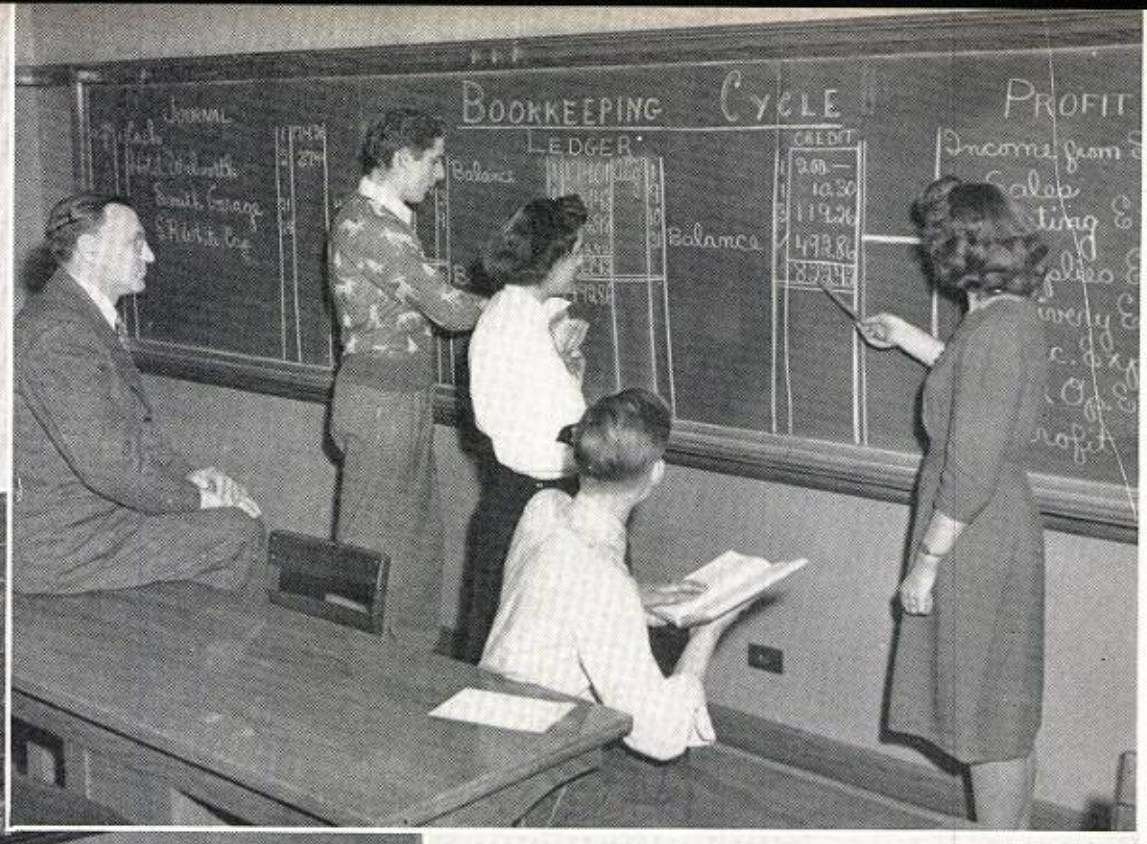
Lower right picture: Punctuation lessons accompany the work on the theme to insure well written papers.

Lower left picture: Another class in English finds panel discussions a modern and enjoyable method of interchanging ideas; teachers and pupils enjoy it.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Good office secretaries are in demand, and our Commercial classes have just the types that are needed. This is a sample of one of them.





Getting Equipped to Enter the Business World

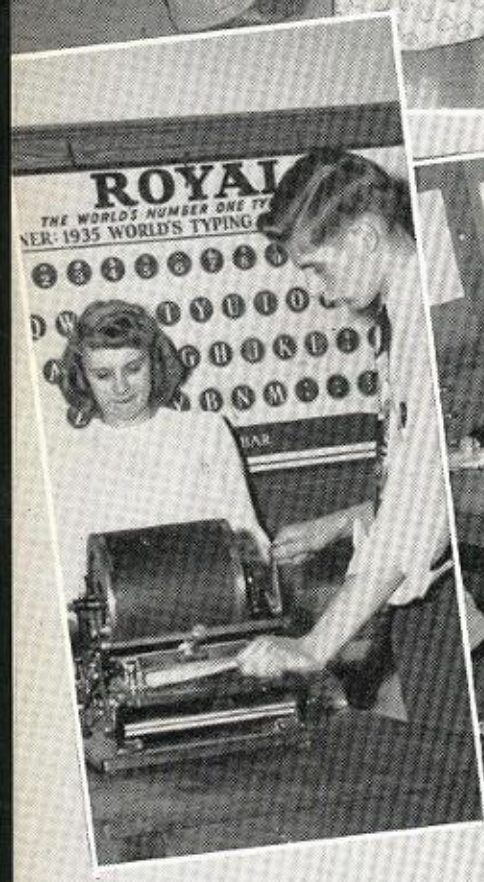
Upper left picture: Typing classes under competent supervision are very popular. Pupils work to improve their speed and accuracy.

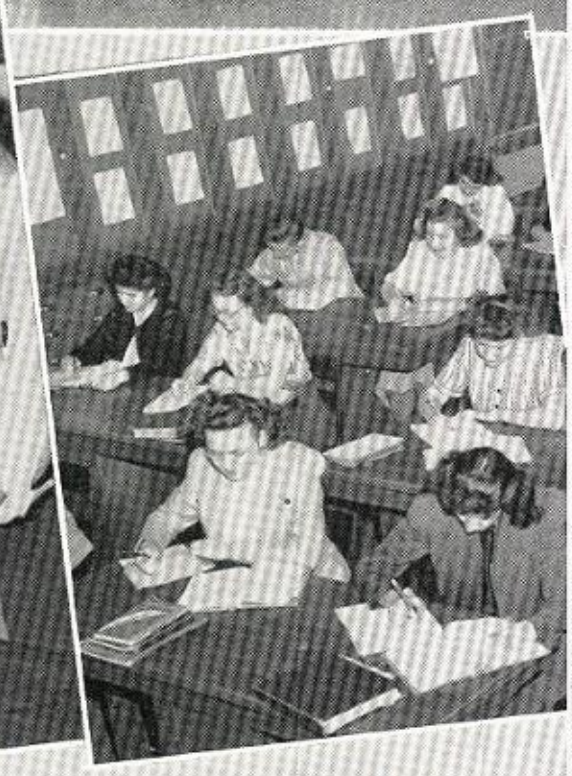
Upper right picture: Principles of good bookkeeping are taught to young people interested in getting office positions as bookkeepers.

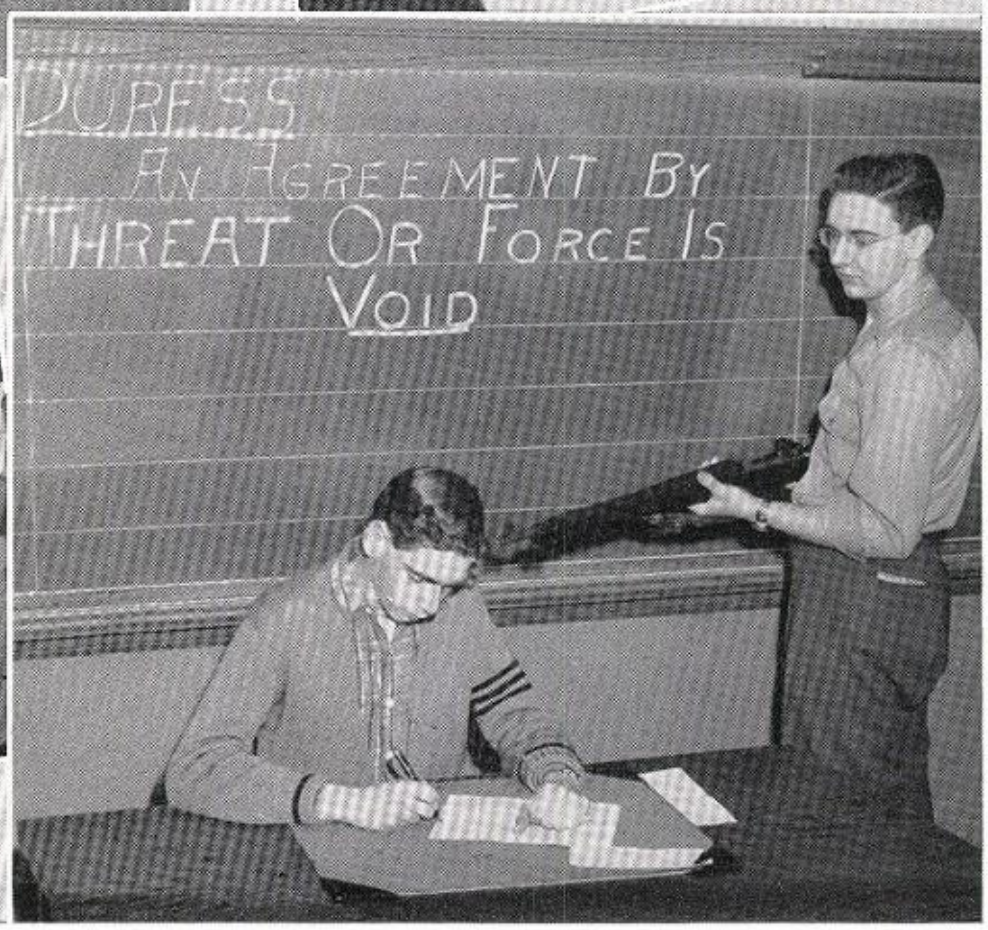
Center picture: Qualities necessary to become a good salesman are stressed in the Sales class. Procedure in selling is stressed.

Lower left picture: A course in Business Training is expected of all pupils who are taking a Commercial sequence. It is usually offered in the Freshman year.

Lower right picture: Calculating machines furnished by the school are used by members of the Calculating classes. Many expert operators are turned out each year.







Daily Sessions in Commercial Department

Upper left picture: The Commercial Geography class dramatized a lesson in the cotton production industry. One feels almost as if he were in the midst of the southern cotton belt.

Upper right picture: A part of the calculating class is pictured here. They are very serious about their work. They realize that their work must be accurate as well as speedy.

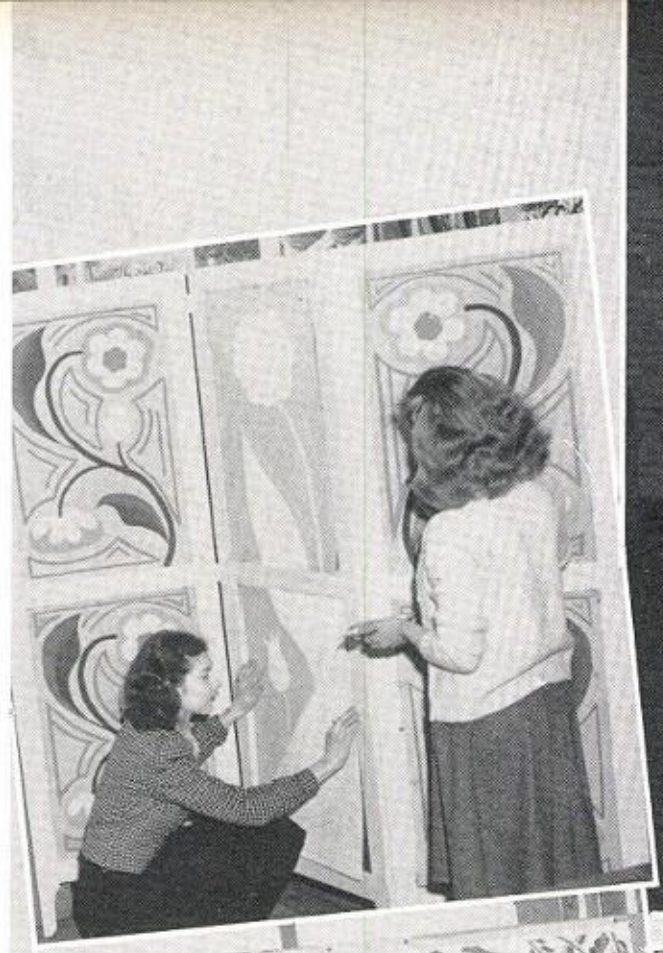
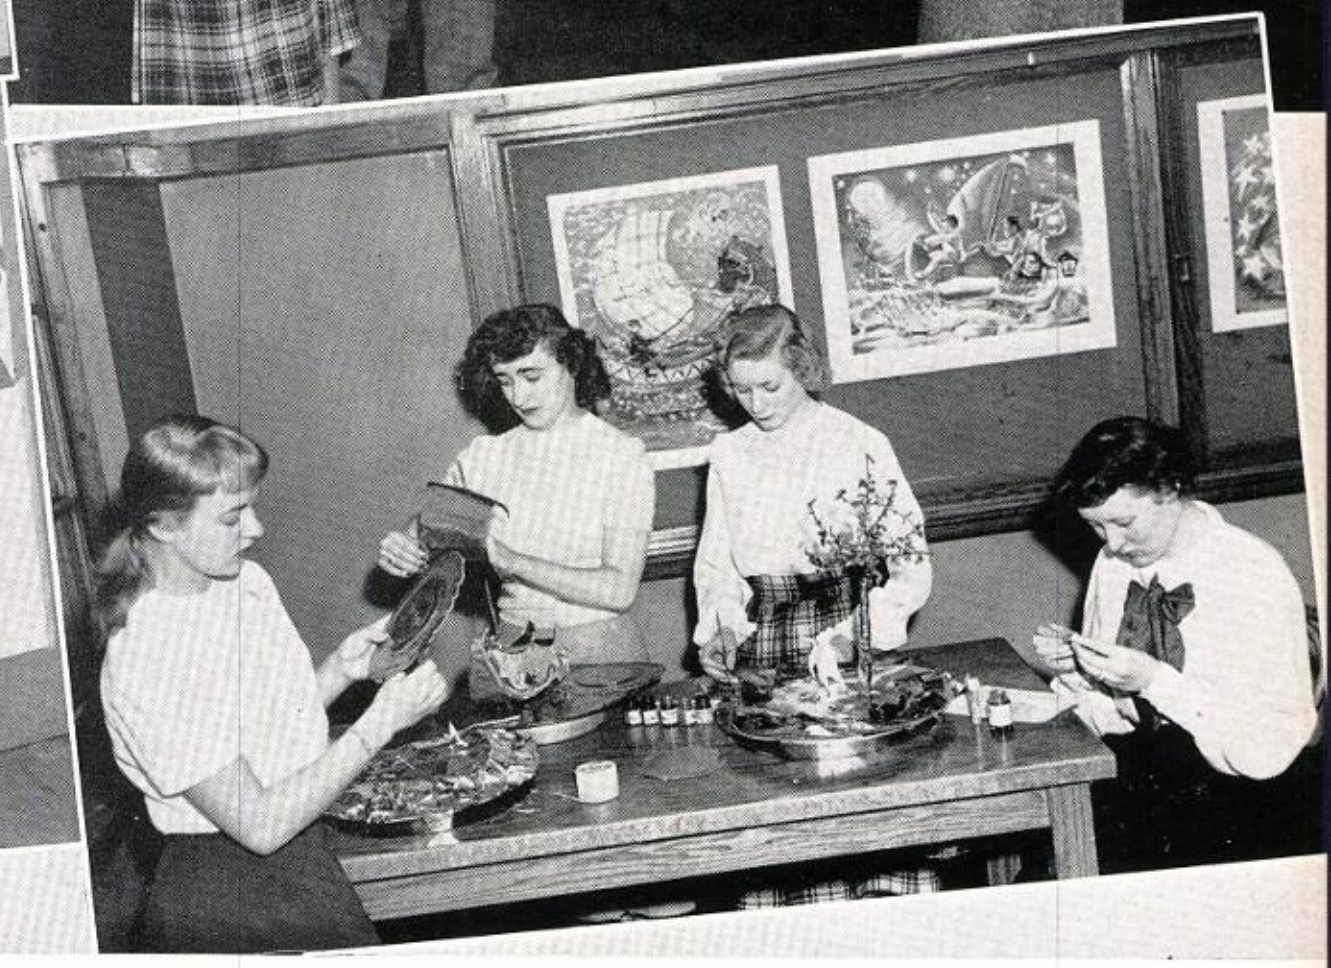
Lower right picture: Pupils who are contemplating a legal profession will find the Commercial Law classes helpful in obtaining the rudiments of law.





Artist's Touch Add Beauty to Life

The girls' rest room will soon bloom forth with a set of gaily painted screens made entirely by members of the Art classes, another one of the many Art projects. These are some of the girls who are responsible for this contribution.

Unusual one man Art exhibits display the wide talent of some of our best Art students. Norman Ross is the artist in this display. This is but a small part of his great variety of drawings.

At the reception at the Stevens Hotel given for Miss Robertson, retiring Art supervisor, fancy favors of metallic paper and aluminum foil made by Steinmetz Art students decorated the party tables, and here we see some pupils busily engaged in producing them.

SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

The Social Science study room is an innovation at Steinmetz. The room is well stacked with reference books, and students may go there any study period for help. It is well patronized.

Pupils Look Into Past and Present Events

Upper left picture: This student is making a report of her visit when she attended a U.N. Conference in New York in the fall of the year.

Upper right picture: Committees in U.S. History work on the topic of "Farmer and his Problems." This is a part of the Unit known as Prices and Business down to the present day.

Lower left picture: Some classes make a study of the current topics of the day gathering information and working together in small committees.

Lower right picture: This is but a small portion of a large group of History studenis who are called together for important broadcasts. In this one they are listening to the President of the United States.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Students examine the Star Fish in the biology laboratory where botany and zoology are taught mid very pleasant surroundings.

Pupils Move About in Scientific Atmosphere

Upper left picture: Enthusiastic chemistry pupils observe an experiment in the distillation of water. Upper right picture: Students record data on what takes place when finding out the amperage of a dry cell.

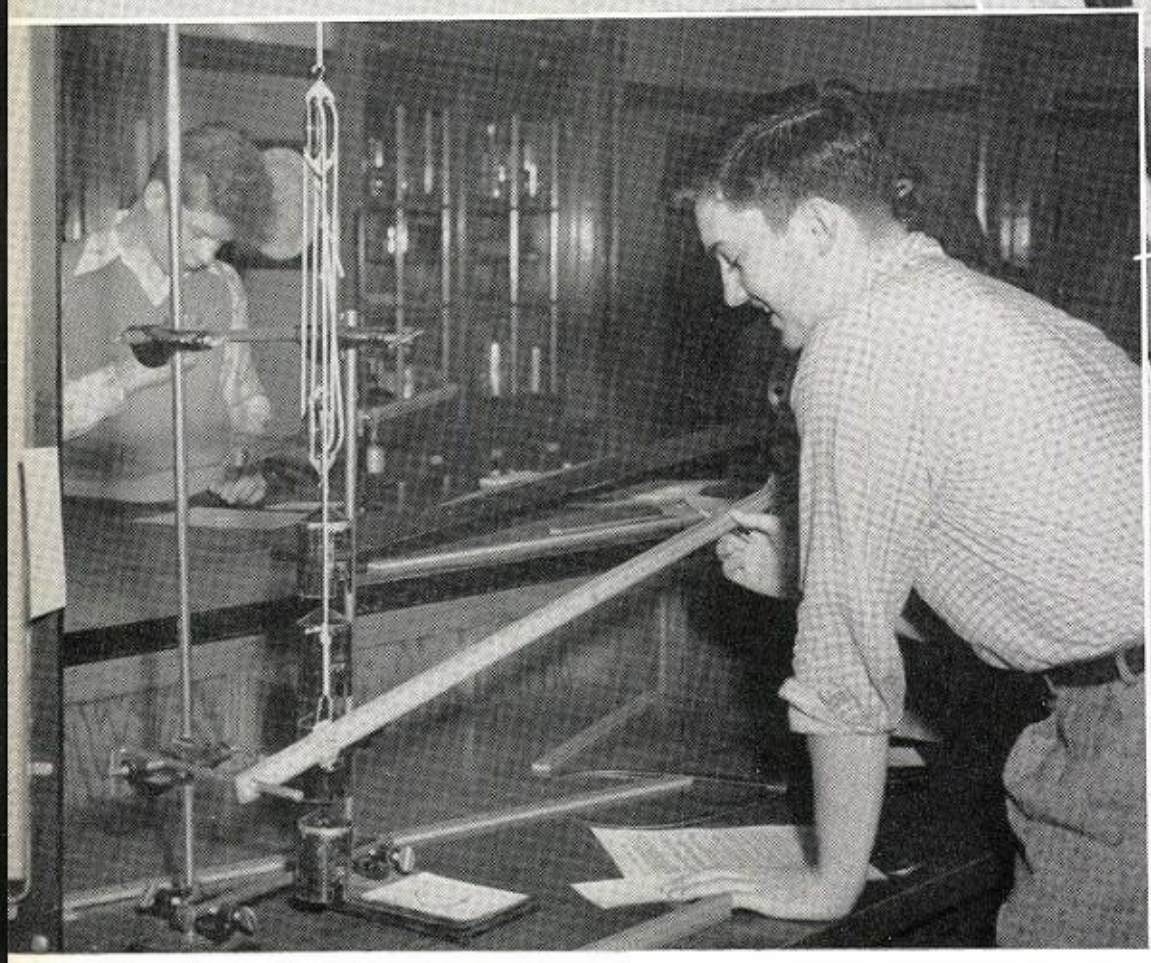
Center right picture: A class in General Science is studying the causes of day and night and the seasons.

Lower left picture: If you are interested in "birdology" you ought to see Steinmetz's collection of birds; it is well worth while.

Lower right picture: Varieties of cactus have been gathered by the Biology department; a corner of the laboratory is reserved for the collection.



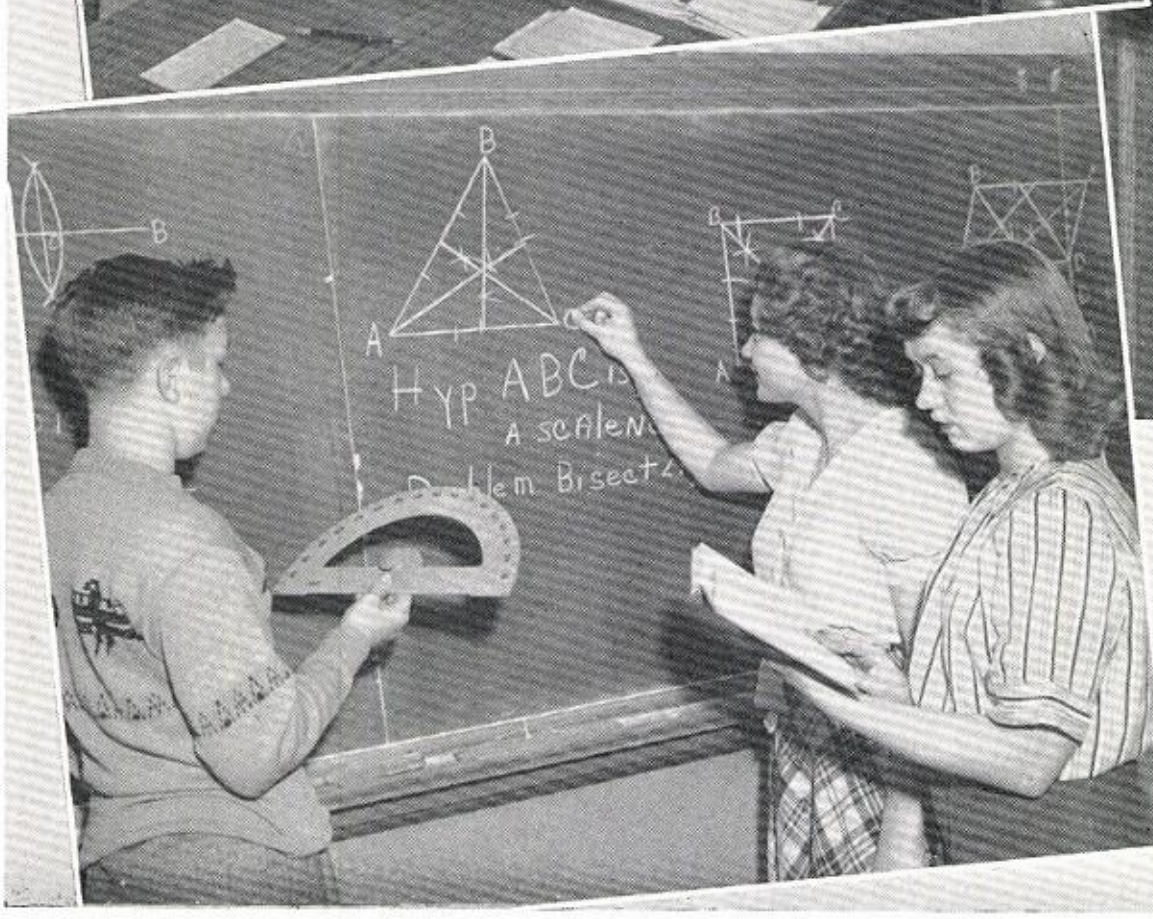
Even Cooking Can Be Done Scientifically

Upper left picture: Bean slicer gets a work out while other young cooks prepare the icing for the freshly baked cookies.

Upper right picture: Girls try out the new cookie presser and cake decorator on the tempting cakes and cookies that they have just removed from the oven of the new gas stove.

Center right and lower left pictures: Physics students learn about various types of levers, pulleys and balances. They are taught to find out the amount of pulleys needed for lifting certain objects.

Lower right picture: Girls as well as boys are interested in Chemistry. Here a group is working on weight of certain chemicals after being heated.



Mathematics Has Its Problems Too

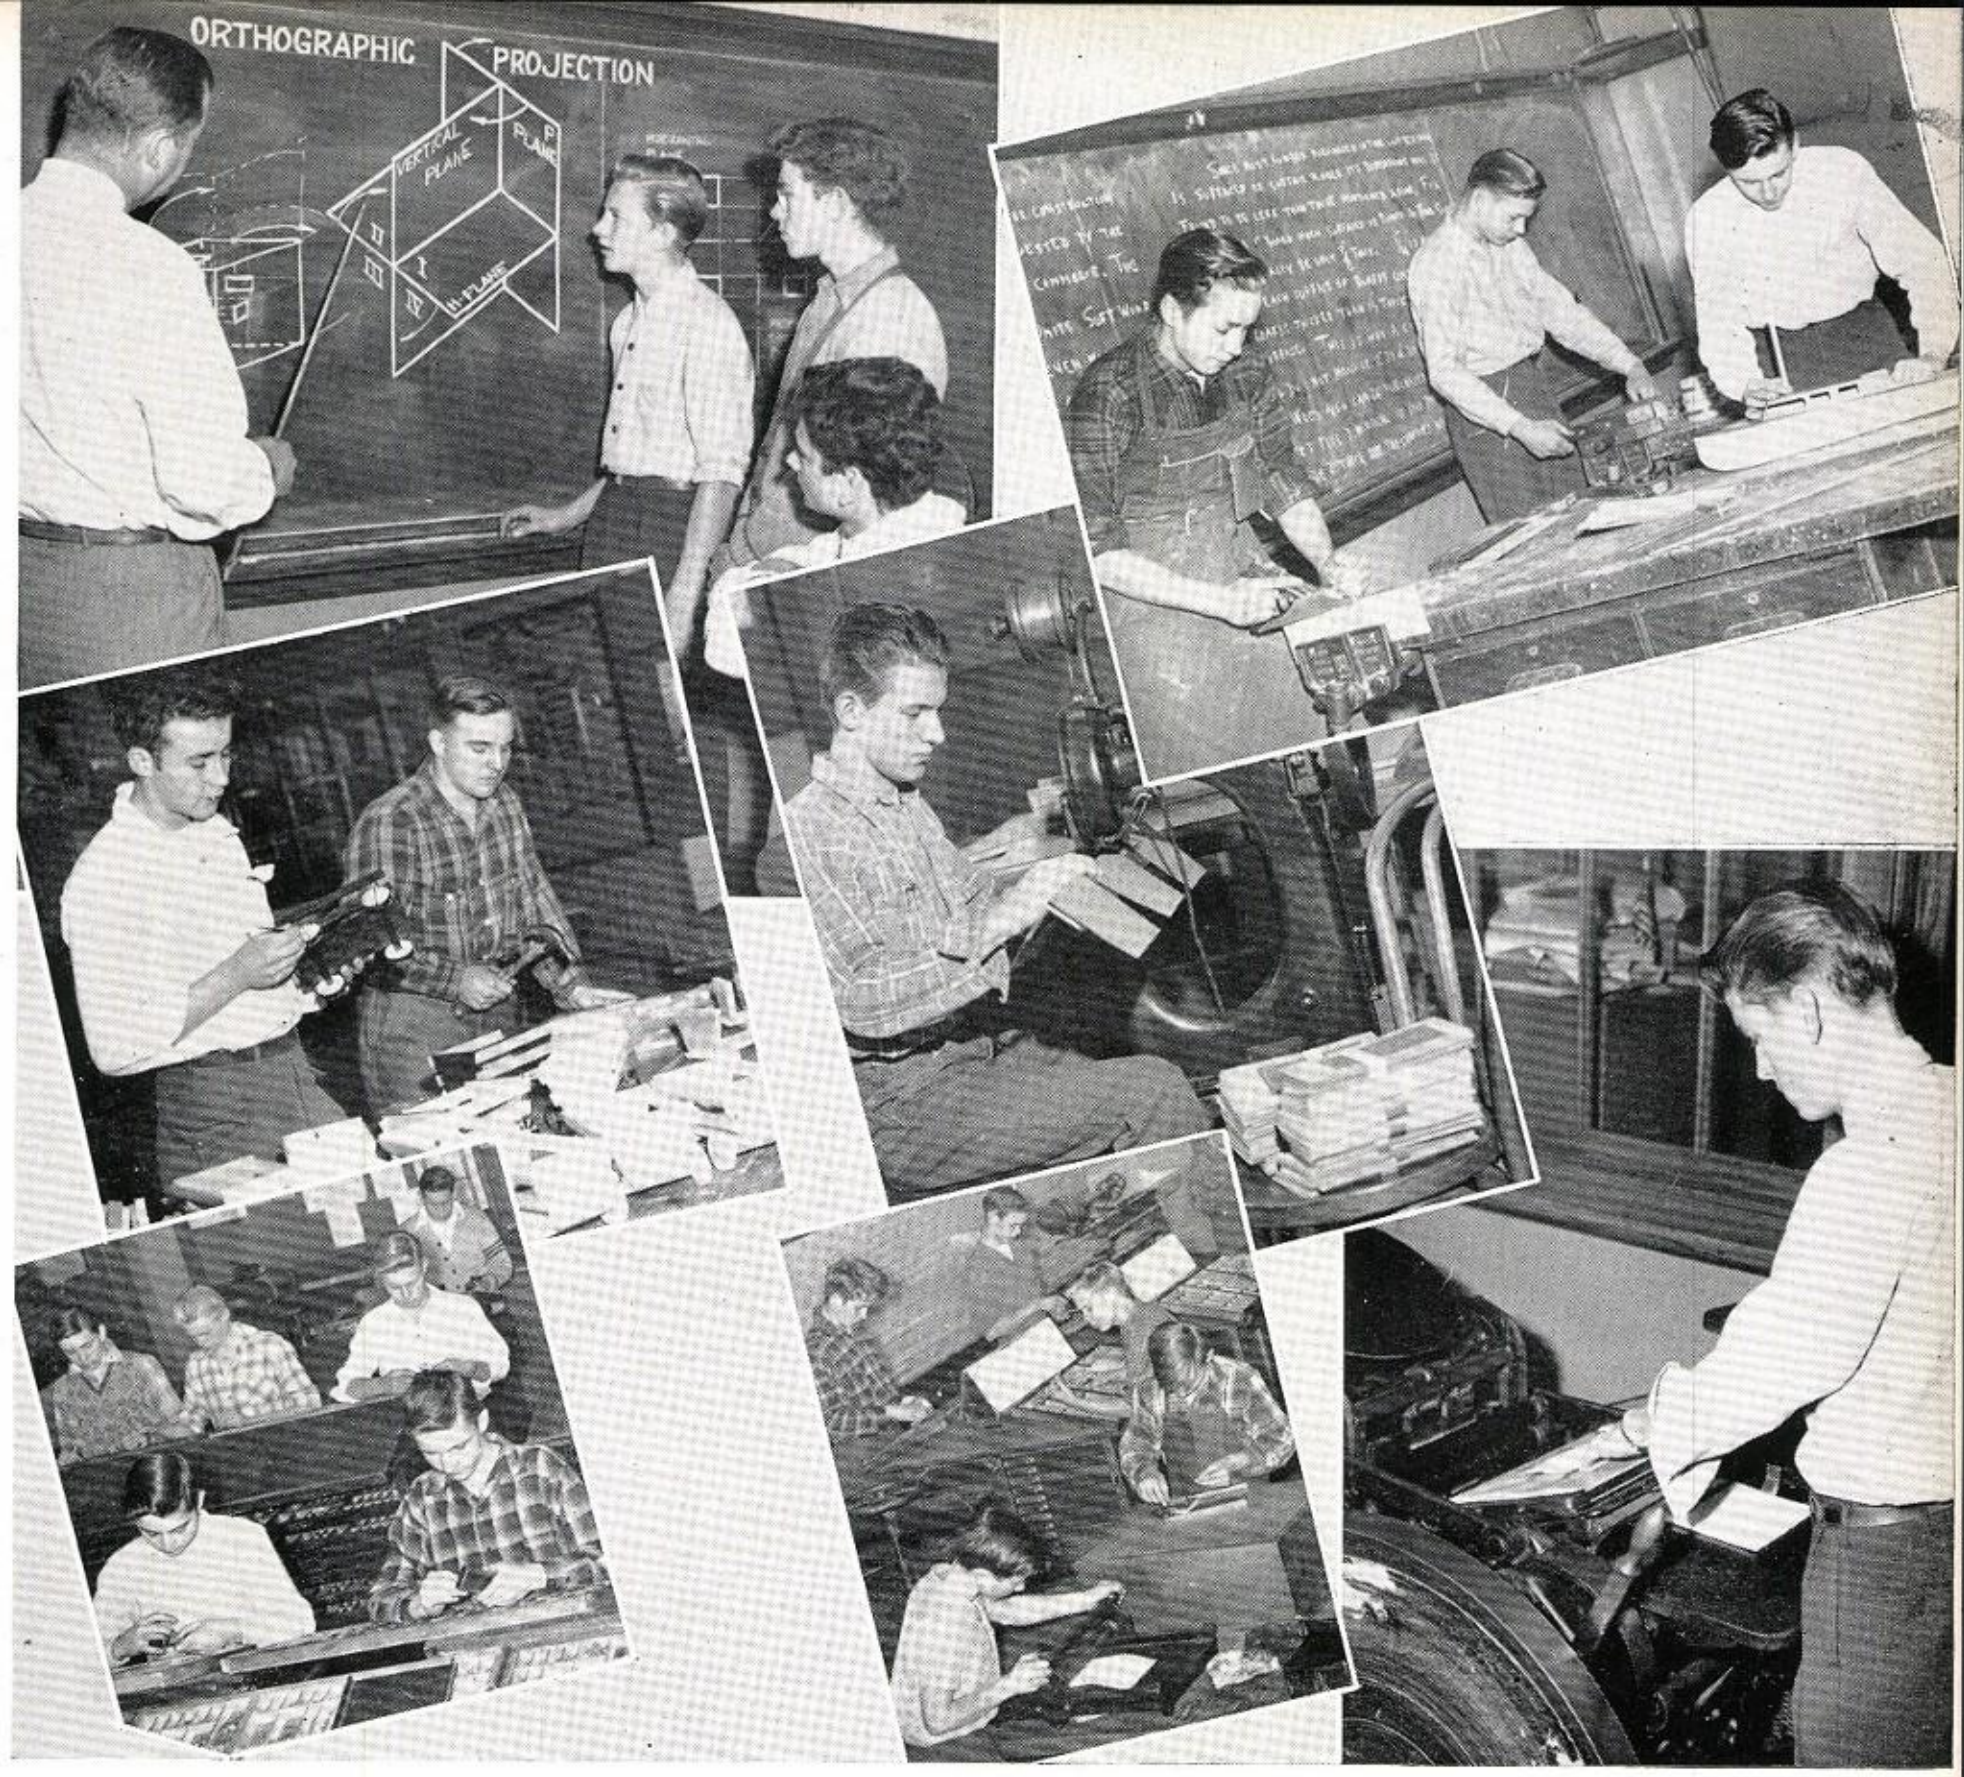
Upper left picture: The camera caught the teacher right in the act of giving out the dreaded quarterly grades.

Upper right picture: Concrete geometric figures are used to intensify the pupils' image of the solids.

Lower left picture: Mathematics cover a great area of work and the pupils find many angles to it which they bisect and trisect.

TECHNICAL DEPARTMENT

Woodworking is one of the branches of the Technical department. Fancy wood decorations, boxes, and stands are some of the products. The Red Cross has received many articles from them.



Industrial Art Class on Review

Upper right: Woodshop boys find fun in making boats and airplanes.

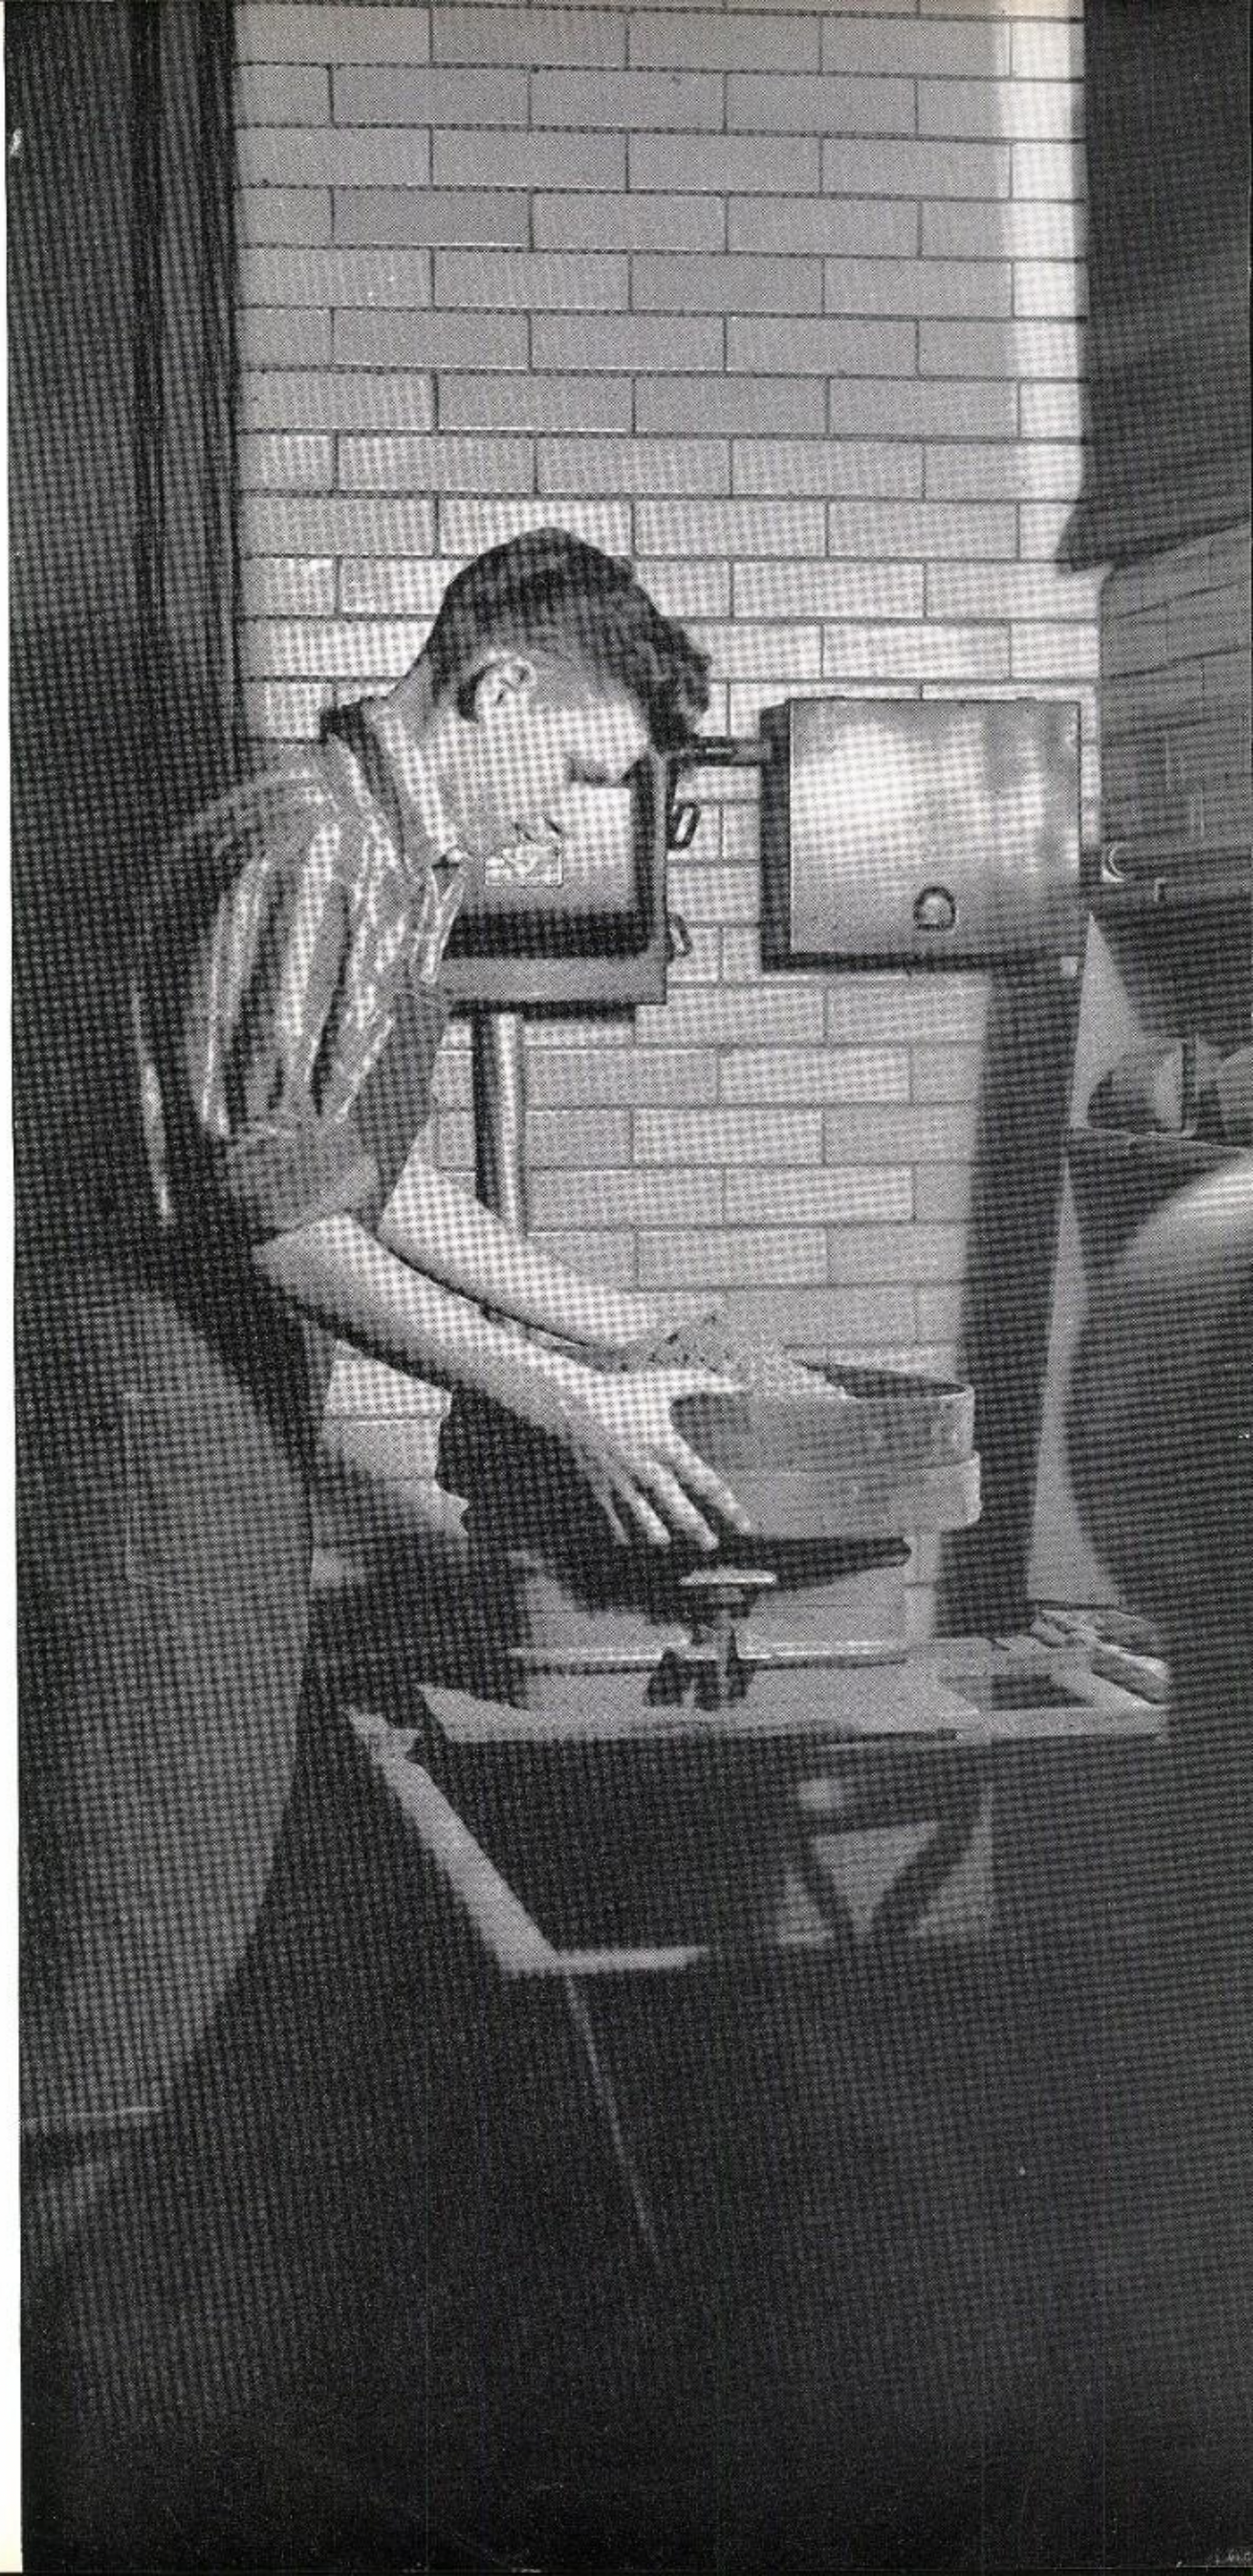
Center right: Printing department teaches boys how to do a good stitching job.

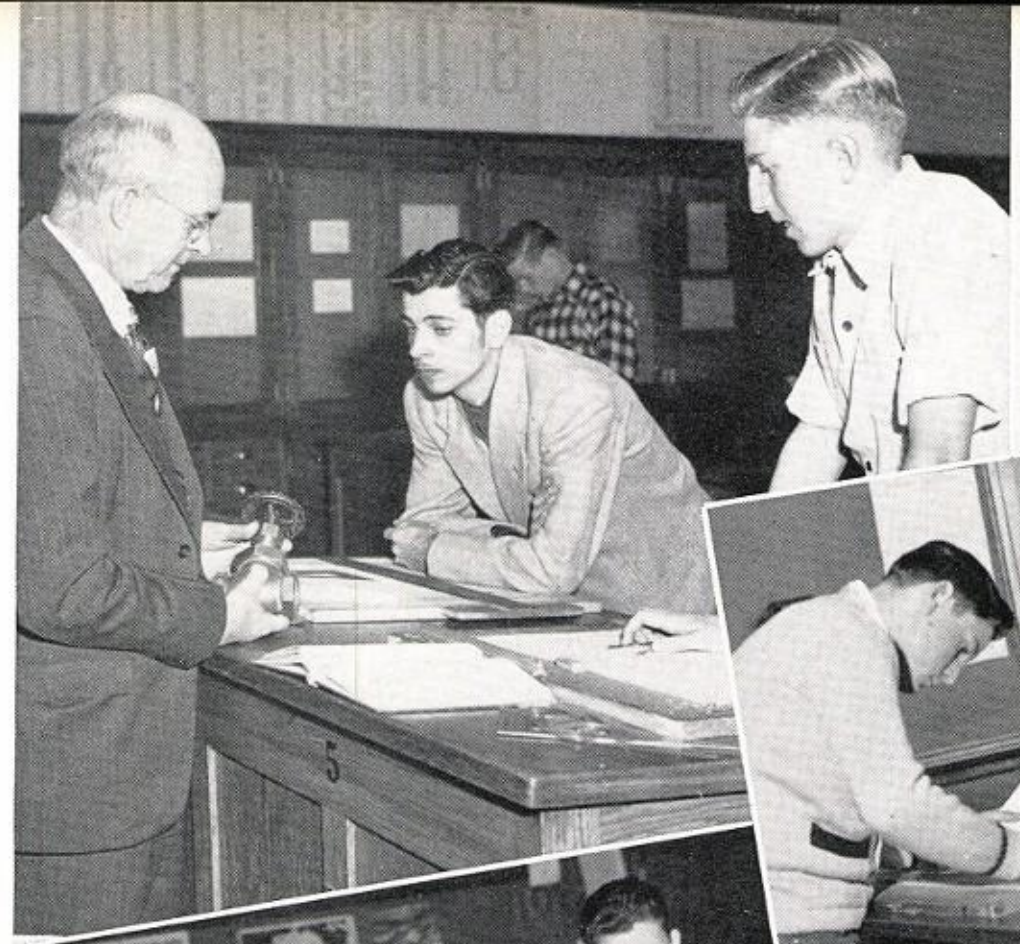
Lower left: Students are trained to set type for small jobs about the school.

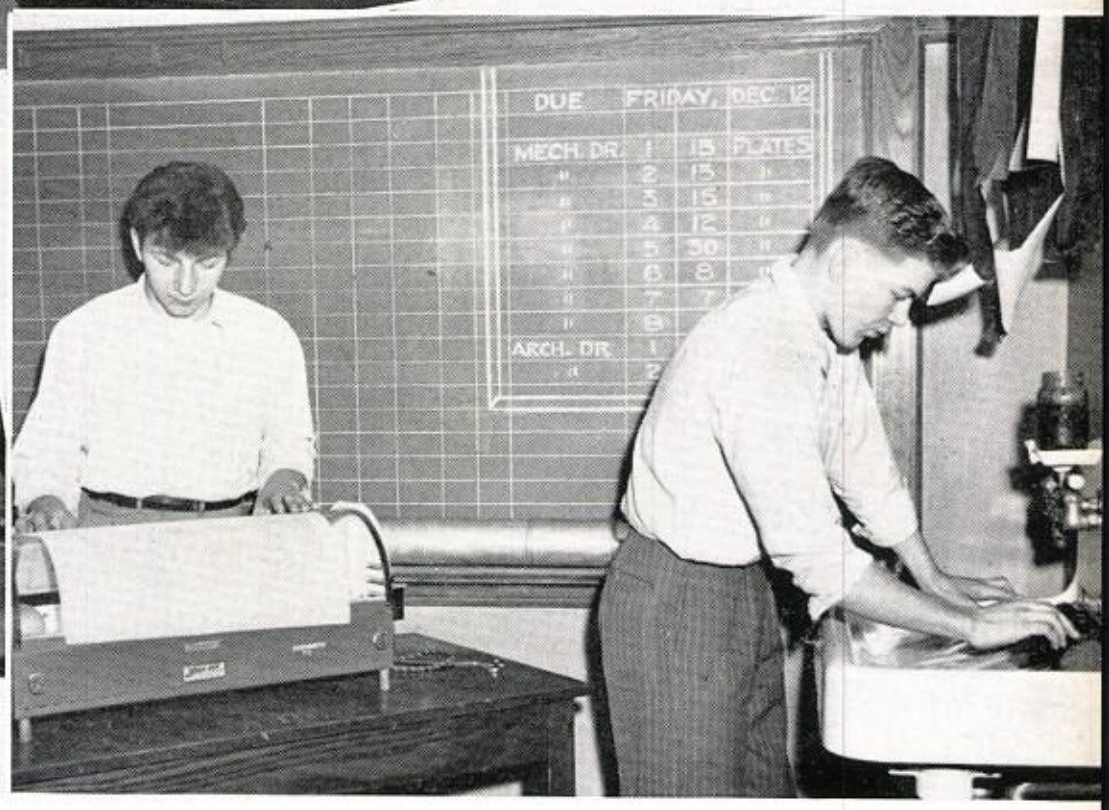
Lower center: Others are busy with type composition, proofing type and tieing type form.

Lower right: Boys get a thrill when they are ready to run the press.



A student is shown sifting sand in order to ram a mold. This is a part of the foundry work which includes electric motors, soldering, plastic work, and making small hand tools.





Handy Men Keep Homes Together

Upper center: Young draftsman is carefully working out the assignment.

Upper right: Individual help to students clears up many difficulties.

Lower left: Lamps, tie-racks, book-ends and toys are turned out from wood-shop.

Lower right: Boys are instructed in making blue prints: one is putting it in roll; another is doing the washing.

It's quite a common sight to see
A green young frosh at half past three
Finding her locker in distress
Must let the clipper do the rest.

The Junior Miss goes in for clothes,
The latest fashion and newest modes,
The hooded coat both plaid and plain,
The foremost number it became.

Bows of silk tied under the chin
Gives snap to the dress without even a pin;
And though they're not the beaux that date,
They may prove to be the very best bait.

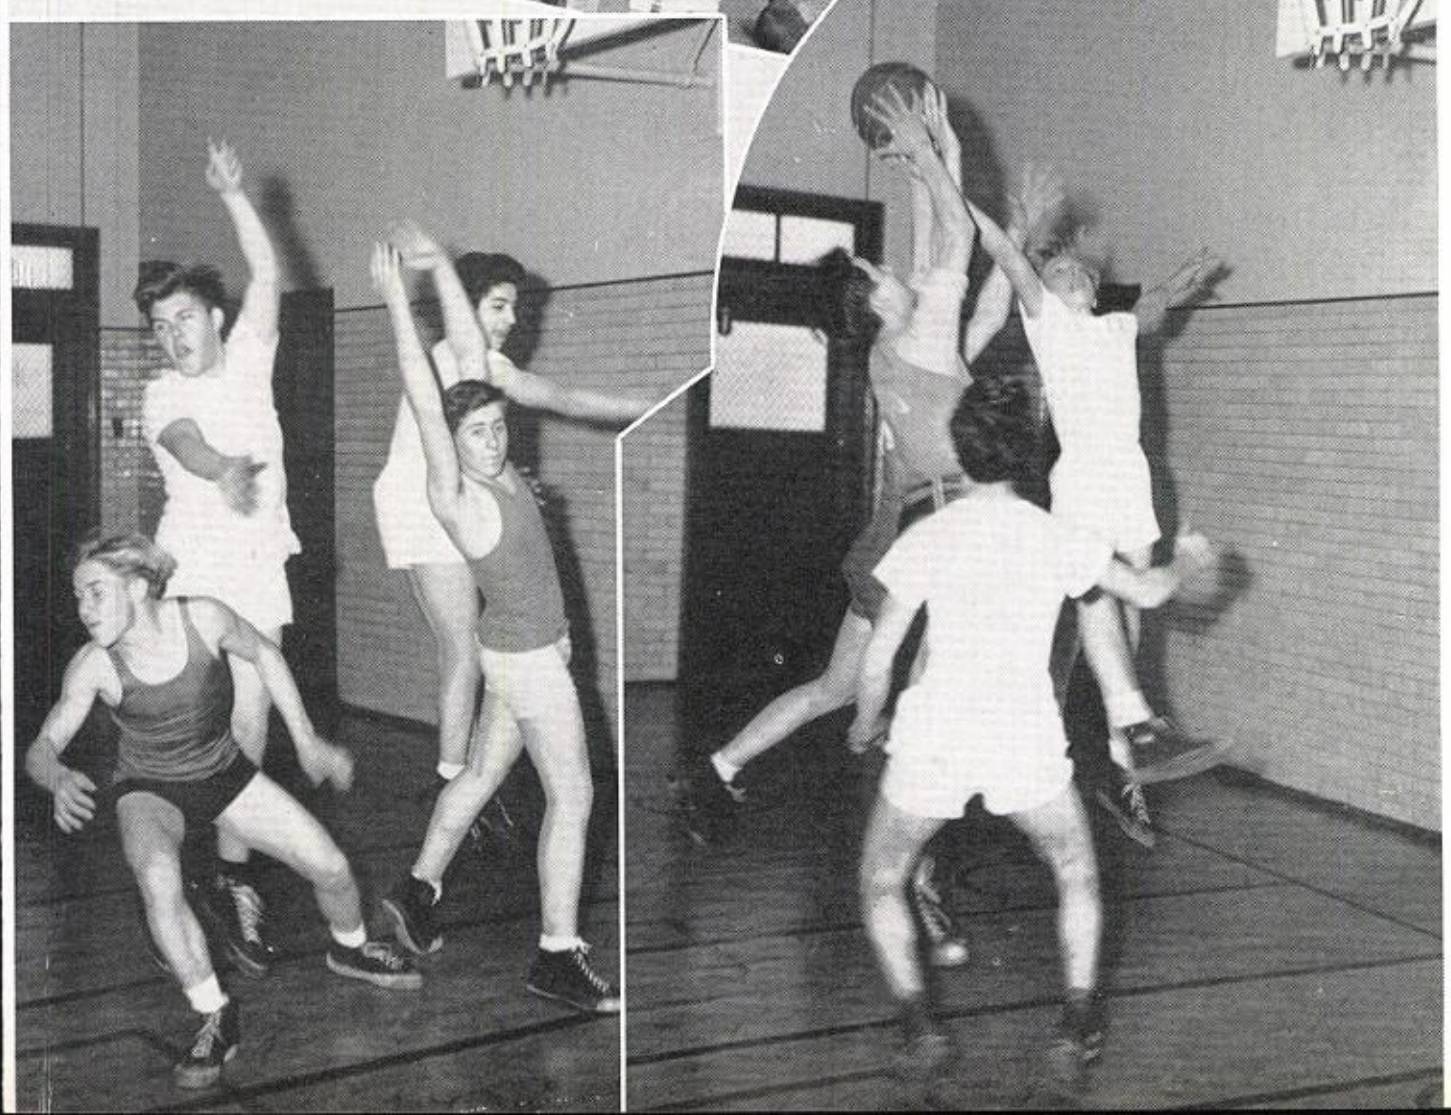
SAYER BRANCH

About two miles south and somewhat west from Steinmetz, the Sayer Branch is situated. Its membership consists of pupils who live in that particular vicinity which is also a part of Steinmetz district. It takes care of the overflow that can not be accommodated in the main building. Mr. W. McBride is the head of the Branch.

Bridging Distance By Remote Control

Sayerites have their birthday parties too, and it's always a festive occasion in the student lunchroom.

The workshop at the Branch is a busy place, and many attractive as well as useful objects emerge from it.



Sports of all kinds are offered, and basketball is probably the most popular of all of them.

PARENT TEACHER ASSOCIATION

Our program aims to acquaint parents with phases of student activities. The highlight of the P.T.A. activities was the reception given to General Superintendent of Schools Dr. Herold C. Hunt and the Steinmetz Faculty on October 16. Assistance to the clubs for the Fall Festival was a pleasant experience. Honor Medals for outstanding achievement were awarded to the R.O.T.C. "Circle J. Ranch" brought the western spirit to our school. Mr. Sidney Diephouse presented the "Charm Girls." Mums to the Dardanelles for their cheerful assistance.

Focusing Attention on the Inner Man

LUNCHROOM

Spotless kitchens, excellent cooks, tasty dishes, pleasant workers, bright lunchrooms, cheerful companions, fair prices, eager eaters—happy teeners—that's the American way! Isn't it worth nourishing?

Their Songs Reveal Great Love for Music

BOYS' CHOIR

Boys' voices are appealing to any audience and Miss Kilgour's group of singers is no exception. On several occasions the club has entered the district music demonstrations and have been awarded an "E" rating which proves that others besides "Steinmetzers" think that they are good. Their annual mothers' tea is one of the social highlights of the season. They also took an active part in the Fall Festival and at present they are making plans to sponsor the Elmhurst College group.

Golden Throated Song Birds Sing

GIRLS' CHOIR

Under the able tutorship of Mr. Groom, the Girls' Choir has grown to be the largest choral group in the school, numbering one hundred at the present time, with prospects of greater numbers.

And a Velvety Silence Steals Over All

GIRLS' CHOIR

These gifted song birds are selected from every semester group, from the brand new "Freshies" to the high and mighty seniors. All the girls work toward one goal, keeping the fine reputation of the choir, and quite a reputation it is, too. In the past eleven years at the Annual Choral Competition, the choir has received nine S's. Quite a record. It is well known around Chicago, too. One of its many outside engagements is its annual invitation to sing for the Sunday Evening Club at Orchestra Hall. The girls sing for the pleasure of singing.

Pulling Strings for Close Harmony

JUNIOR CHOIR

Who are all those attractive girls producing that clear, lovely music? Why, that's Miss Farr's wonderful Junior Choir. They are always on hand with extra songs, and ready to captivate their audience when needed. The club outdid itself in performance when it presented the Christmas cantata. The annual mothers' tea was another successful event.

JUNIOR CHOIR

It has often been said that lovers of music seldom stray far from the good path. If this is true, these girls need not fear the future, for they are deeply devoted to song. To see them in action readily convinces the listener that they love to sing. Miss Farr, an accomplished musician herself, is very fond of her song-birds.

Mixed Voices Give Tonal Beauty and Balance

MIXED CHOIR

Ever since 1934, the Mixed Choir has been going strong. Under the direction of Mrs. E. Sorensen, the choir plans to present arias in the future and furnish music which will display school talent. Their cleverly arranged Variety Show, given at the Fall Social, brought down great applause.

VOICE CLUB

That wonderful singing in 128 on Mondays is Mrs. Gross' voice class. Mrs. Gross teaches the latest songs along with art songs and technique. Once a year there is a contest of Sayre and Steinmetz pupils. At the semester's end the class gives a concert and a party for their parents, teachers, and friends.

Aiming to Fulfill the 1948 Latest Song Hit

CONCERT BAND

Mr. Feldman asserts that the chief objectives of the organization are service, co-operation, to act as training grounds for future professions, and to acquaint students with good music so they may follow it later. Anyone who is interested in music and would like to play an instrument in the Band is eligible to join. Keep up the good work, musicians, we're all for you!

"Anything You Can Play, They Can Play Better"

CONCERT BAND

The peppy marches and snappy music we hear at our pep assemblies, football games, and other programs are the contribution of our fine Concert Band to Steinmetz spirit. The band is under the direction of Mr. Ivan Feldman, who is proud of its seventy-five members. They have been awarded an "E" rating for three consecutive years, and are more than glad to render service to the school.

SWING BAND

This well-known group of swing players is in great demand when dances are being arranged and good dance music is needed. Now and then a little "blue singing" is included in the engagement and Loretta Morrison is the singer. Fall Festival night these boys gave the "rug cutters" the very best in dancing numbers. Mr. Ivan Feldman gives a great deal of extra time after school directing these young people.

They're High-Powered Transmitters of Harmony

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Mr. Willard Groom began the organization of the orchestra ten years ago. He combed the entire school for talent, and soon a small group started the first orchestra. Since then it has grown steadily in numbers and achievements, still under the leadership of its enthusiastic sponsor, Mr. Groom. It would be difficult to picture Steinmetz without any orchestra.

They Radiate Sunshine in Steinmetz Auditorium

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

A Blue Ribbon goes to the great symphony orchestra of Steinmetz for its loyalty, service, steadfastness and efficiency. It will linger in our memories as a delightful group whose music is pleasing to teen-agers who often tire of jazz and swing and want something refreshing in good music. They have selections well worth hearing.

CHAMBER MUSIC

The Symphonettes, a group of sixteen girls, prepare music for performance at conventions and banquets. They devote many hours outside of school time to this fascinating activity. This group has been carefully selected as to musicianship and ability and is a highly organized unit. Deloris Dechow is director.

and Catch the Sound of Their Sweet Refrain

CHAMBER MUSIC

The "Starlets" is the oldest group of girls. After school hours they practice music to be sung at celebrations especially in the Loop. Last season this group, now in its 6th year, sang for gatherings in the Morrison, Sherman, and La Salle Hotels, the Stevens, and in the Builders Building. They received the compliments of Mayor Kennelly at the Clean Up Campaign dinner. Shirley Bradford is director.

FINE ARTS GUILD

The Fine Arts Guild, under the able guidance of Mr. Willard Groom, is one of our most honored groups. It consists of singing, instrumental, and dramatic talents. Whenever there is a special occasion, the Fine Arts Guild is called upon to perform. All of the members are ready and willing to perform at a moment's notice. Every semester the Guild gives a concert of solo performers.

A Credit to Old Steinmetz Is R. O. T. C. Band

R.O.T.C. BAND

When the shrill whistle of the strutting drummer signals for the roll of the drums, watching heads raise to catch the opening strains of the rhythmic military beat of the Steinmetz R.O.T.C. Band. This stirring group of Steinmetz pupils provide the scintillating music for the R.O.T.C. unit and has helped to bring military honors to our school. Attention! Precision! Co-operation! are the watchwords of our band.

Poster Makers Find It Pays To Advertise

POSTER CLUB

Posters about the building announcing all the important coming attractions and events at Steinmetz come from the adept hands of this select group or artistically inclined students. All who have observed the posters must have noticed what a great variety of composition and color they display. Mr. Weaver, art instructor, is always on hand to aid them.

PAN AMERICAN CLUB

What fun was had by the "Pan Am's" at their before-school meetings, their planning for their "Mexican Cafe" at the Fall Festival, and their treks to out-of-the-way Mexican restaurants and movies! Everyone shares in the work and enjoys the happy results. Here they are pictured in one of their typical carefree moods holding high the flags of the countries about which they are studying. Vivan, Pan Americanos!

POLISH CLUB

Members of the Polish Club were especially fortunate this year in having among them a Polish refugee. He is shown here telling his club members his impressions of our country. He says he stands in awe and admiration at the freedoms, the opportunities and the abundance of everything that the American youth has. He gives first hand information on the customs and conditions of the people of Poland. Miss Bogowicz, club sponsor, is amazed at the speed at which Anthony Szunierz is progressing with the language.

Guter Kaffee Mit Plaudern

GERMAN CLUB

The German Club is one of the oldest chartered clubs. Their Kaffeestube at the Fall Festival was well patronized by many who enjoyed the German cakes and cookies made by the mothers and grandmothers of the club members. The traditional party with Lane was a happy event of the club.

STAGE CREW

Eating is a regular habit with the stage crew, but they never neglect their work. Some "fellas" keep lonely vigils in the projection booth; others develop their muscles lifting and hauling scenery. Our hats are doffed to Mr. Spikings and to you boys, the sometimes forgotten "fellas" behind the scenes.

GREEN CURTAIN PLAYERS

Keeping pace with the fine standards of this club, this group presented "A Penny Saved" for the Fall Festival. It was a sellout, and from the applause of the audience the play was a real hit. The pantomime work which accompanied the Christmas play, "The Nativity," given in conjunction with the Junior Choir, was well done. The year end play will be a comedy entitled "Summer Rash." Mrs. Haas, sponsor of the club, directs all the plays; she spends many extra hours on the various activities.

LIBRARY CLUB

While busy learning of library work as a career and discussing new books, these library assistants take time daily to answer such questions as, "How can I replace my lost library card?" and, "Where are the Biographies?" The duties of this club are the checking of incoming and outgoing books and the reshelving of books.

SIGMA QUAD

These good-natured boys proved to be super good-humor salesmen the night of the Fall Festival, as they took over the ice cream booth. Sigma Quad is Greek for four S s, which stand for scholarship, sportsmanship, service, and school spirit. The boys have adopted this motto. You can depend on the Sigma Quad for service when it's needed. Mr. Downey has been the sponsor for several years, and is always ready to offer the services of this club.

And Your Sales Resistance Vanishes

DARDANELLES

One of the first clubs to be organized was the Dardanelles. It is a girls' organization whose primary duty is service to Steinmetz. Girls with a scholastic average of "E", and those who are willing to give of their time and their energy are the ones who are eligible for membership. Each year they are called upon to take charge of certain activities. Their balloon and chrysanthemum sale at the Fall Festival was a huge success. The members of the Lions Club at whose luncheon they served spoke very highly of the girls. Serving at the social for the P.T.A. is another one of their services. Miss Kilburn, the sponsor, guides the girls in their work.

Miss O'Connor's workers helped to fill gift boxes for needy children in Europe; one hundred boxes were prepared. Two members each year are sent as delegates to the Red Cross meetings downtown.

KNOW CHICAGO CLUB

Lovers of Chicago who like to learn more about it, will find a well informed companion in Miss Bergh, the sponsor. Places of historical interest are visited and old Chicago history is reviewed.

Contact Centers for Registering Complaints

The Student Council is composed of representatives from the various divisions that were elected this year by a school-wide election. The object of the organization is for the improvement of conditions in and about Steinmetz. Various committees are appointed to look into suggestions from pupils and faculty and to act upon them if they seem worthwhile. Sometimes the action is not as quick as pupils would like it, but it takes time to weigh a situation from all angles; but things are being accomplished.

Laying the Ground Work for Future Action

Mr. Henry Weaver is the adviser of the group, and he sits in on all the general and important committee meetings. The Council acts as a good will ambassador for Steinmetz. It interchanges views and activities with other neighboring high and elementary schools. Delegates are sent to represent Steinmetz at state-wide conventions. They bring back policies from other places that Steinmetz may adopt. The Council hopes to do bigger and better things in the future.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY CLUB

Upon assembling their credits in preparation for college, these teen-agers go to Miss Jacobek and Miss Haley, the sponsors, for assistance and advice. The meetings take place every other even school week on Fridays. The library committee handles all catalogs which include the location of various universities and colleges. A "G" average, interest, and time are the important factors that are required for membership in this club of college-minded students.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Being in the upper ten per cent of your class, and thus making you eligible for the National Honor Society, is your reward for all the hard work during the past semester. Aside from helping at the pop-corn and peanut concession at the Fall Festival, the society sponsored a breakfast in the lunchroom. The faculty sponsors of the society are Miss Roy and Mrs. Zwicky.

FOOTBALL

When the boys are in action they need "gobs" of cheering from their buddies to spur them on to victory. That's school spirit, and that's what real lovers of Steinmetz should have and should display at every opportunity presented to them. Many times when the success of the game is in the balance, a lusty cheer from their comrades has often been known to turn the tide. So come out to the games, folks, and get behind your team!

Triple Threaters Block Our Goal Line

The towering Titans who represent Steinmetz on the gridiron have put the trials and tribulations of another season behind them. The mud, the rain, the chills and thrills of action, packed games mixed with the cheers of roaring crowds, are now but pleasant thoughts. And that trip made to Benton Harbor surpasses all other memories. But then we recall the tough season highlighted by the game (?) with Austin (later the city Champs). The mighty muscle men and their sponsor, Mr. Thompson, deserve plenty of credit for their wonderful cooperation and splendid fighting spirit.

Dog Paddlers Keep Abreast With Their Strokes

BOYS' SWIMMING CLUB

This year's swimming team, again ably coached by Mr. Havlicek, has had a memorable season. The loss of last year's men caused a rather slow start, but through the cooperation of all those who participated the team gathered speed as the year progressed. We ended with a better than average group.

The Coach Lets Them in on Some of the Tricks

The 47-48 Basketball season came to a thrilling climax, when Senior Squad was nosed out of the city playoffs by a close margin of 3 points, losing to Senn. Melgaard scored 12 field goals and 3 free throws totaling 27 points topping the previous record set last season by Wolz which was 26 points for one game. He also set a new record for the Juniors in total points for the season.

BOWLING CLUB

Mr. Pfeil's bowling buddies have a great time when they meet after school at a neighboring bowling alley and vie with each other for top scores and high averages. The boys have loads of wholesome fun and good exercise making strikes in their spare time.

CROSS COUNTRY CLUB

Round and round they go, these Steinmetz sprinters making record time, panting breathlessly and dizzy with excitement as they near their goal, while Coach Vesel looks on with pride.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The purpose of the G.A.A. is to encourage girls to earn their athletic letters. The G.A.A. activities are guided by Mrs. Soderberg and the Board of Control, a selected group who manage the various events. The events include volleyball, basketball, ping-pong, bowling, apparatus tournaments and posture contests. Awards are given for each affair at a semi-annual assembly. This year the total membership was 1347 members.

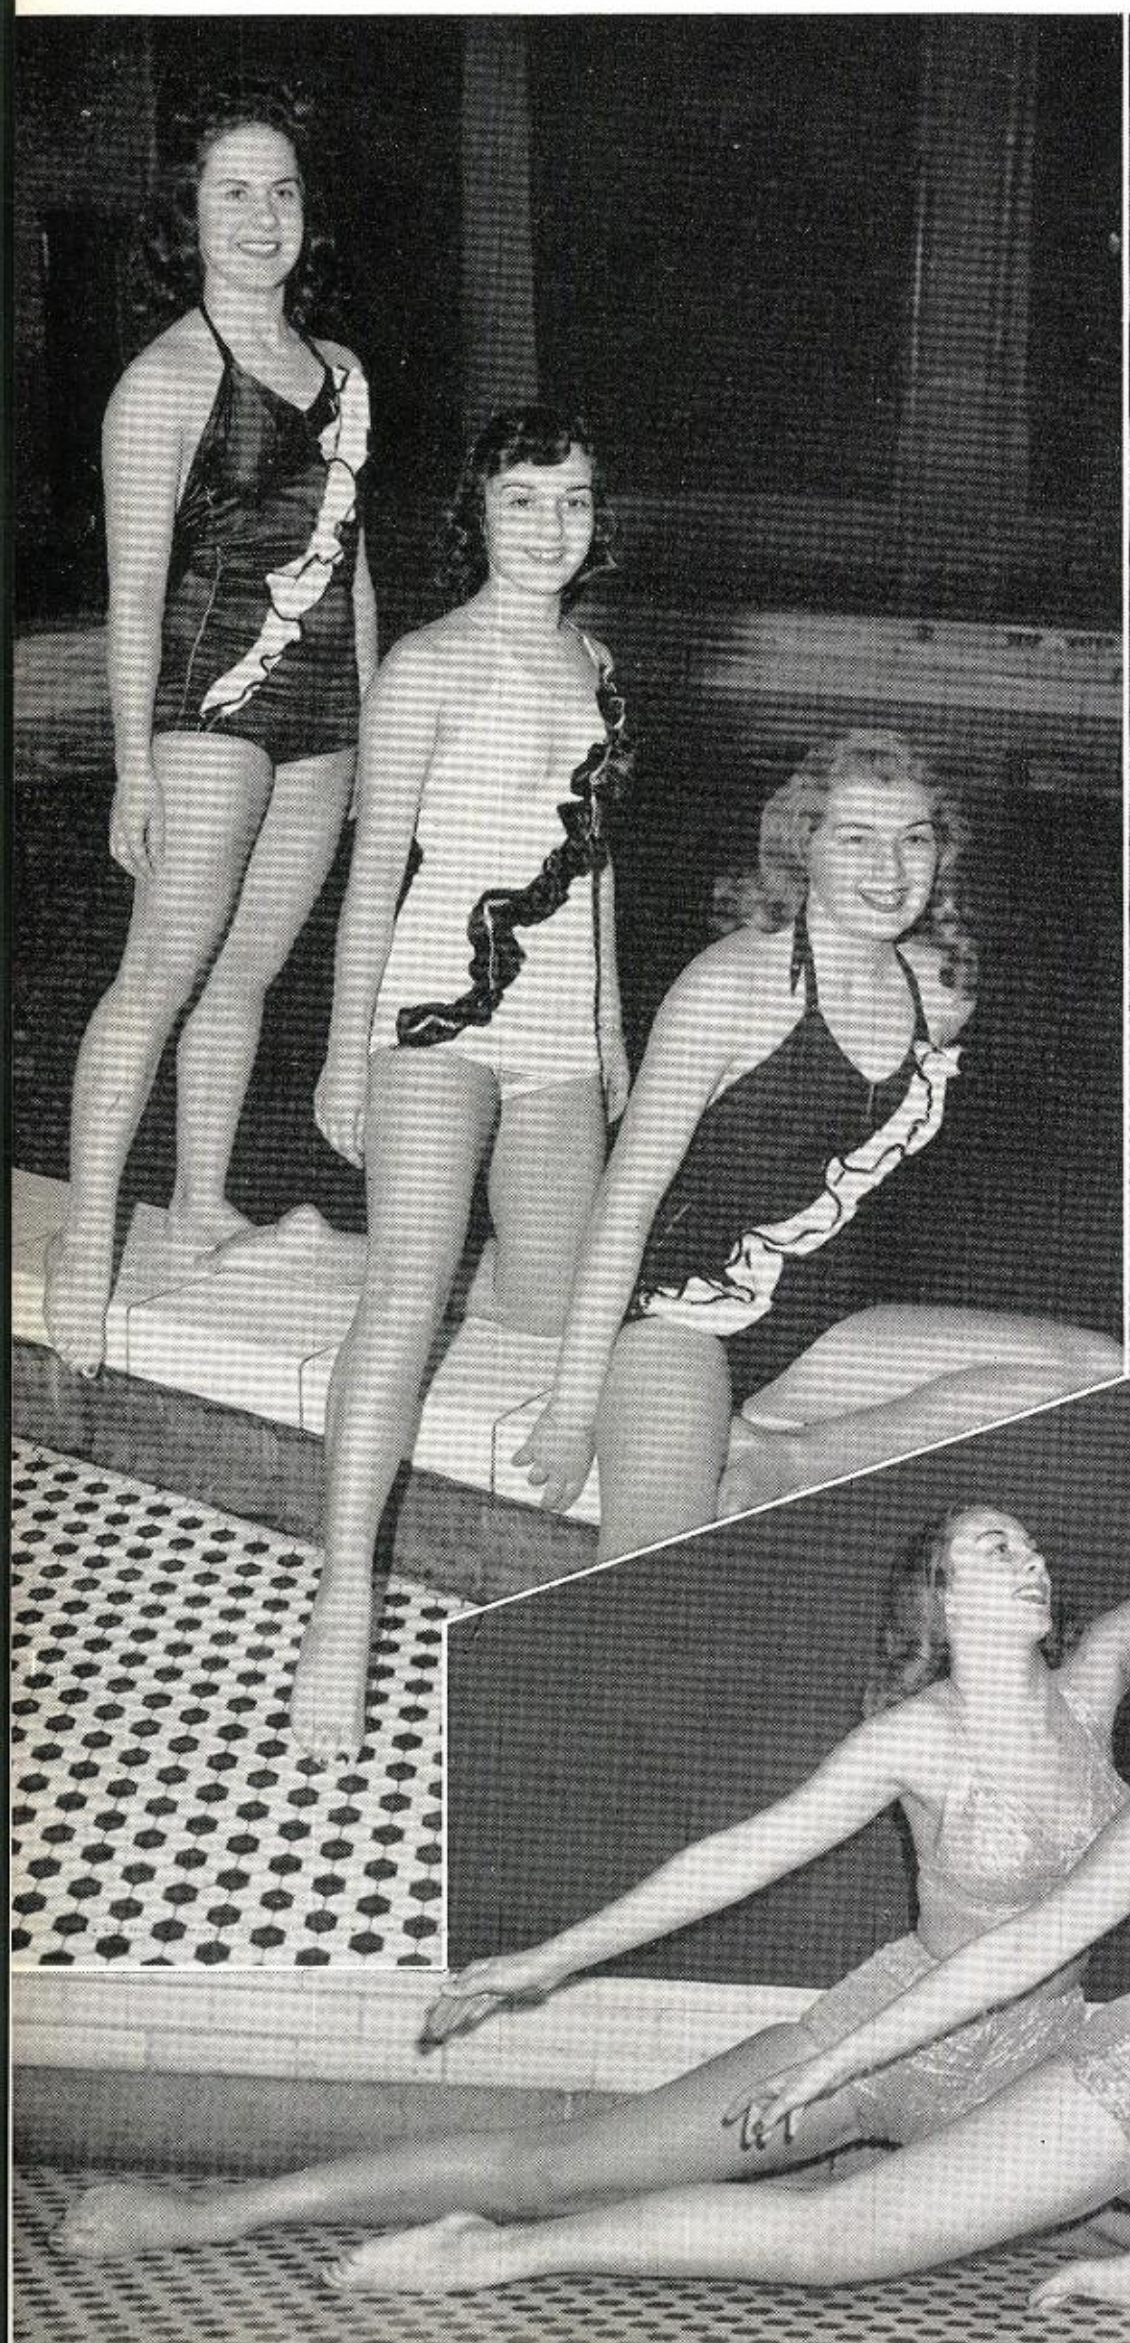
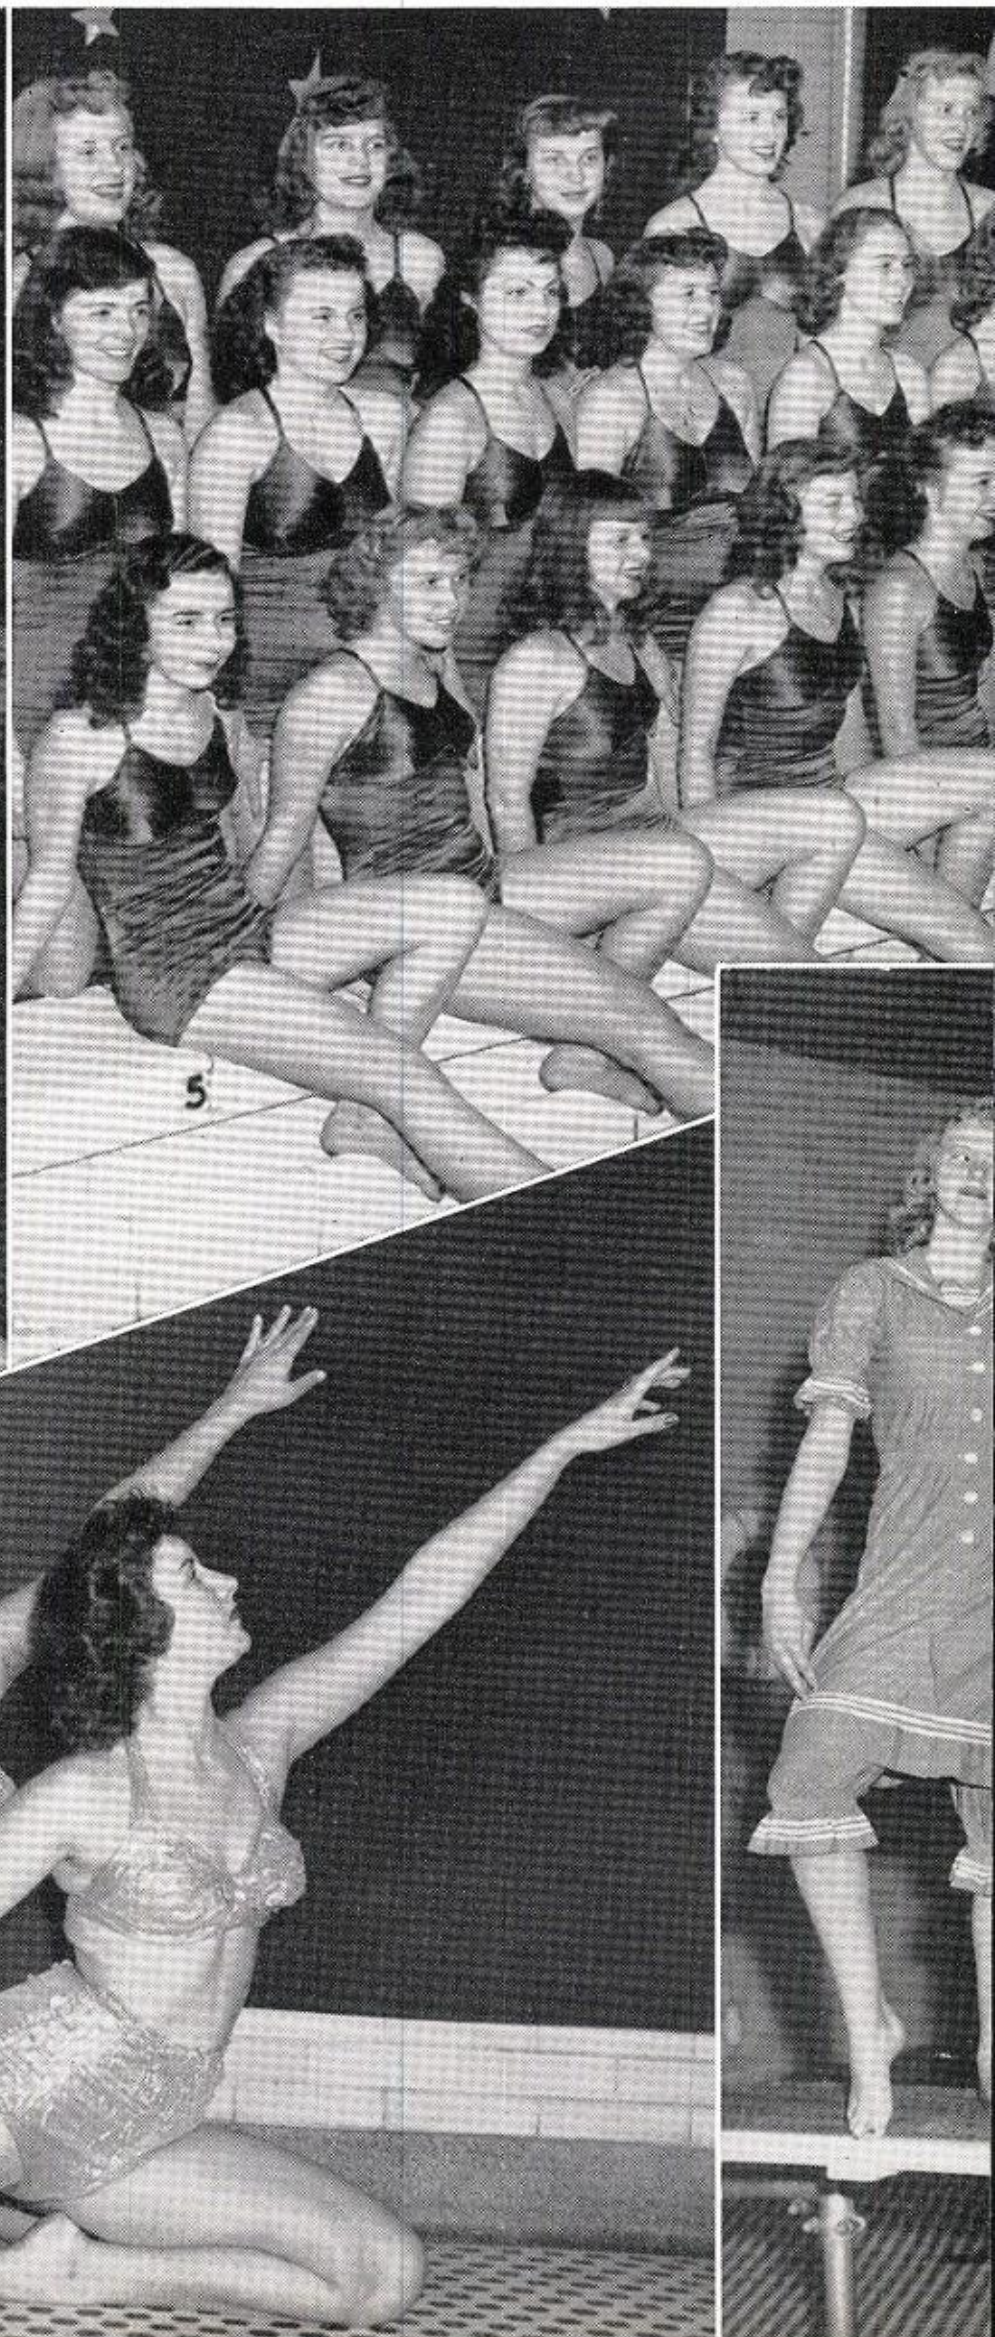
One of the outstanding attractions and biggest drawing cards at Steinmetz is the fancy swim exhibition, accompanied by music, put on by Miss Rolence's expert swimmers.





But Don't Go Near the Water

Unusual honors were bestowed upon them by Esther Williams, movie star and expert swimmer herself; each girl received a "Glow In The Dark" swimming suit from her.

CO. C. 1st PLATOON

Ready! Aim! Fire! These are the familiar commands that ring out on the campus each spring while Co. C practices infantry tactics that they have been studying all year. This includes some camouflage, so you'd better beware when crossing the campus. Who knows, that clump that you are stepping on might be one of our cadets in one of his camouflage tactics.

They're Always Up to Some New Tactics

This group is instructed much like the first. The cadets are given a preview of the remaining three years in the R.O.T.C., and many then set the goal of rank which they will seek. Like their brothers in the first platoon, all look forward to the issue of uniforms.

Future Trouble Shooters Stand Ready to Act

CO. B. 1st PLATOON

Here the cadets' dreams are realized. They each receive a brand new uniform from Uncle Sam. This inspires the cadets whose studies and duties are rapidly advancing with the passing of each day. The use of the individual weapon, M-1 rifle, now enters their lives.

The Year Book seems to have become an intimate part of Steinmetz. Two thousand copies were bought this year and that number was reached without any special sales campaign. The publication of the Silver Streak is the result of splendid cooperation from all sides. We wish to extend sincere thanks and gratitude to:

- American School of Television, 5000 Broadway, Chicago, and especially to Mr. Kerner, a very busy gentleman who threw open the doors of the school and personally helped us execute our Television theme.
- Mr. Solem, the patient photographer, who was so generous with his time, talent, and materials.
- Mr. Hagerty, the engraver, whom we can thank for all the extra touches and suggestions that help make the outstanding Annual we have.
- The student body for their splendid conduct in the picture taking program.
- To the faculty for the helping hand it has always extended, many times under very trying circumstances.

•Mr. Fitzgerald for the confidence he has placed in the ability of the staff to do the job; and last, but not least—

•The members of the staff who made the book possible, and whose names appear below.

Prom Night Reflectors

Members of the faculty greet the young merry-makers as they enter.

The ladies fair must have refreshments served from the hands of their handsome partners.

The camera man catches a pretty picture as the attractive threesome promenades upstairs.

And those quiet little corners make good places for program scanning.

But the peak moment comes as all step in line for the Grand March.
